TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

All members of the local teaching corps have enrolled and the opening program of the annual teachers' institute will be given in the new High school auditorium beginning promptly at 1:30 this afternoon. The program will be carried out as announced with an address by William C. Miller of the department of health at Harrisburg, and Dr. William D. Henderson of the University of Michigan will lecture on "Fear a Factor in Education."

This evening the Old Home Singers will give a concert in costums. This is one of the stellar numbers of the evening entertainments and will probably pack the huge auditorium to capacity. The concert will start promptly at 8 o'clock and as there will be no reservations, all persons are requested to come as early as possible.

A slight change will be made in the program Tuesday and Wednesday, Hon. S. D. Fess delivering his lectures on Tuesday and Wednesday instead of Wednesday and Thursday, and Dr. F. W. Hinnitt, president of W. & J. college being present Wednesday instead of Tuesday. No other changes will be made in the program and the evening's entertainments will be carried out as arranged.

Special attention is called to the lecture on Wednesday afternoon by Dr. S. D. Fess on "Half the World in Arms." This lecture is one of the most important and interesting of the entire course and all should be present to hear it. The public is invited to attend all the morning and afternoon sessions.

Wednesday the teachers from Rostraver township will be present for both the morning and afternoon sessions and it is quite likely that a number of visiting teachers from surrounding towns will also take this opportunity of attending the institute.

Man Badly Injured While At Work

As a result of an accident while at work in the mill last night, William Kibler is today a patient in the Monessen-Charleroi hospital and an operation may be necessary to amputate his right arm which was badly crushed. The left hand is also somewhat injured. Details of the accident could not be learned but the injuries are of a very serious nature. Mr. Kibler is a married man and resides with is family in Monongahela.

A Thriller

Because permission to take certain views was refused a moving picture director at the Pittsburgh Steel company's plant at Monessen, the movie fans of the nation will have to get along with what undoubtedly would have been one of the "six best sellers" of the movie world.

A movie director conceived the possibilities of one of his artists performing deeds of daring on a broad belt traveling at lightning speed. The belt he had in view was one at the Monessen plant, that is, he had it in view until he discussed the matter with the management.

The moving picture director wanted to film the belt, minus the man, intending to put the man on the belt by some legerdemain of the moving picture profession. Inasmuch as this belt goes at a rate that makes the New York-Chicago express look like a tortoise, the consternation of the men at the mill may be imagined until they understood the proposition. But permission was refused bythe mill and the matter ended.

Police Court

Police court was rather light this morning, only four prisoners facing the burgess, while two others forfeited their money by not appearing. Bert Mack was in the toils again and will spend the next 60 days in jail. Jack Lewis, a plasterer, was discharged following his conviction on a charge of drunkenness. Abraham Nutilla will work five days on the street, not having the necessary $7.00 to pay his fine. Sam Robb was discharged and Joe Beres and James Vivio forfeited their money by not appearing.

GREAT EXTRA VOTE OFFER ANNOUNCED FOR CONTESTANTS

50,000 Extra Votes For Every Club Of $10.00. This Offer Will Close Saturday December 4th at 10 P. M., And There Is No Limit To The Offer. Is Best To Be Made.

Every contestant who brings or sends in $10 in new or old, large or small subscriptions, between the start of the contest and Saturday, Dec. 4th at 10 o'clock in the evening will be given a voting coupon of 50,000 extra votes in addition to the regular number of votes allowed for each subscription. The time is short, so you see you must get right to work, otherwise the offer will be of no help to you.

Remember, you are not compelled to bring or send in the $10 in one lump sum. For instance you may bring in $5.00 today, $3.00 tomorrow ond so on. A careful record of every dollar turned in during this clubbing offer will be kept and as soon as the contestant has a club of $10, the extra votes will be issued to the contestant.

This offier is open to all contestants and you can easily see that by a little work you can outstrip your competitors and gain the lead.

There is no limit to this voting offer—each contestant can earn as many of these voting coupons for extra votes as possible.

Subscriptions should not be held back until Dec. 4th, but turned in as fast as received.

CONCERNING FUTURE EXTRA VOTE OFFERS TO BE MADE

In every contest there are extra or bonus vote offers from time to time and there will be extra vote offers in this campaign. But a subscription turned in at the beginning of the campaign will be counted on all future offers. This plan safeguards the interests of all candidates who work. People will tell you to wait until the last because there will be bigger vote offers announced. This is untrue of this contest for more votes will be given during this present extra vote offer than any other time in this campcign.

50,000 extra votes for every club of $10 turned in up to 10 p. m., Dec. 4th.

Open Luna

Workmen are busily engaged in making improvements at the Luna theatre, and this popular little playhouse will open in about three weeks under the management of Tom Raidin. Mr. Raidin is overseeing the improvements which are under the supervision of the state fire inspector, and when completed the theatre will be one of the most up-to-date and safe in the city. The best pictures on the market will be secured for this theatre and the management will cater to ladies and children especially. A five cent admission will admit all to this theatre when open. 1t fp

Game Tonight

Manager Harry Lebowitz of the Olympic bowling parlors has a treat in store for patrons of his popular place tonight. One of the fastest pool games played this season is expected tonight when the Donora team comes here to clean up on the Olympics. Last Friday night the game was played at Donora and that team lost to the Olympics. Tonight the Donora team is coming for blood and a new player or two has been added. but Manager Lebowitz says he is ready for any emergency even if they bring a whole new team.

New Overland Car Has Arrived

S. S. Jones, the Overland dealer, received word this morning that the new 1916 Overland touring car to be given away in the grand subscription contest with the Daily Independent, has arrived in Pittsburgh. Mr. Jones left on an early train to bring the car to Monessen and it will be here some time this afternoon and contestants who are interested in this grand prize can call at the salesroom on Sixth street and look the car over. It is strictly up to the minute in the monufacture of automobiles and has every modern appliance attached. The person who wins this car not only wins an ornament but also a means of pleasure for several years to come.

There is on display at the Independent office a new Lester $400.00 piano which will be awarded as the second prize. This instrument is plain mahogany case and is the latest in the make of pianos. The E. G. Hays company are exclusive agents and guarantee the instrument to be in every way as represented. All the prizes are now on display at the Independent office and those already in the contest and those contemplating entering should call and make an inspection and see whether they are as represented.

Bought Car

The real estate firm of Shuster & Reed is branching out. They have just added a new second hand Ford roadster to their equipment for dipsatching customers to all parts of the city in a hurry. The car was purchased mostly for the use of their representative, Michael J. Skirpan, who has the greatest share of outside responsibility. Mr. Skirpan expects to learn to operate the car at once and when the days duties at the office are over, he will use the car to fill social engagements.

AUTO GOES OVER BANK

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock the automobile owned and being driven by James L Morrison of Brownsville, met with an accident which practically destroyed the car and almost instantly killed the driver. Morison is in the Uniontown hospital and his death is hourly expected.

Morrison, it is understood, was attempting to turn the machine in the street when he threw the car into reverse by mistake and it backed over the Market street curb and precipitated over a fifty foot embankment, and landed on top of a box car on the railroad below, with the driver pinioned underneath. A boy whose name could not be learned, was in the car when it started backward, but seeing the approach of danger, leaped and was saved. A crowd witnessed the accident and soon five hundred people had gathered at the place. Morrison was badly crushed and was bleeding and unconscious. He was extricted from under the machine and dispatched to the Uniontown hospital and his condition was found to be almost hopeless. The unfortunate man is well known in Brownsville and vicinity and is aged about 46 years. He has a wife and one son.

Good Sermon On Thanksgiving

By special request on the part of a number of people we reproduce the Thanksgiving sermon delivered by Rev. J. B. Swain Thursday morning at the United Brethren church at the union services. Rev. Swain touched upon the subject of national preparedness which is being much discussed by pulpit and press. The sermon is in part as follows:

We have many things for which we can be thankful today. One knows not where to begin or end in naming our blessings in sequence of importance. The increase in land; commerce, manufacturing in all kinds of industries is so marvelously great that it shocks the highest flight of one's fancy. Our benevolent institutions deserve our highest praise. They aer bringing joy to the weeping form of widowhood, feeding the hungry and clothing the orphan. The unmerciful hand of greed and avarice is stayed from many homes, and fear of darkening clouds of adversity and trouble has taken its flight from out of many hearts and the badge of tranquility enthroned. It is enough to say our homes are the best and happiest on earth.

And what shall I say of our religion? Never before has it made such leaps and bounds towards bettering and lifting up mankind in general from under the darkening clouds of immortality, vice, crime and sin of every description. But with a feeling of regret we must confess that our religion has not done what we know it can do. Just where to place the fault I am not prepared to speak conclusively as to my own belief for I have no convictions in the matter as yet. However, I may express some opinions. First, I believe we have been preaching too much to the individual and not enough to the nation. It is good to tell an individual what to do to be saved, but we make better progress in telling a nation what to do to be saved. It is a splendid thing to teach a man how to live in peace with his next door neighbor, but we must adopt a world language and teach the nations also how to live in peace with each other, for with our modern inventions and discoveries, the nations of all the earth are but next door neighbors to each other.

In the second place I think we have said too much about the destruction of the soul in the hell of the future. and not enough concerning the destruction of the man in the hell of the present. I have a strong suspicion that the beligerent nations of Europe will agree by this time with Sherman when he said "War is hell." At the very moment in which I am speaking, men are falling into this hell as fast as guns can be fired. The men themselves do not want to pass this way. Their governments are forcing them to be swallowed up in this ungodly and inhuman manner of death. In order to save men from such a death, nations must be converted from their old traditions and customs and their false theories of government and international relations must be destroyed. If our Christianity can make a man live peaceably with his neighbor why should we deem it a thing incredulable to believe that it can also make a nation live peaceably with its neighbor. We have been telling the people too much about the pearly gates, jasper walls and golden streets of the city beyond the starry skies and not enough about the corrupted political gates; the abominable social walls and damnable streets of Pittsburgh, New York, Philadelphia.

If all that is said when we consider the way in which Chirstianity has been accepted and applied to the needs of the world and charcter of society, it has had to do its work in from the beginning. The marvel is that it has done so much for the world and especially the Anglo-Saxons on this continent. Our perfect Christianity though not perfectly applied, has made the American people the happiest and the most prosperous people in all the world.

God has been our shield and buckler; our stay and strength. How is this nation thanking Him this year for all that He has been to us? It seems to be in this way: Mr. Wilson issued the usual proclamation calling on the American people to repair to their respective place of worship and render thanks unto Almighty God for His blessings and Providence, while he, as the chief executive of the nation, repairs to his office to prepare a new proclamation calling to the worshippers for five hundred million dollars of their prosperity in crease our standing army as if their very existence depended upon the strength of man, separate and apart from God.

He called upon the people to pray for Peace while he prepared for war Mr. Bryan was very mild when he said Mr. Wilson's plan for preparedness was a challenge to Christianity. It is more than that. It is a denial of Christianity as being sufficient to save a nation. It is a turn ingrate and false to God.

Mr. Wilson adduced some Old Testament Scripture to support his plan of preparedness. The scripture is found in the prophecy of Ezekiel, 33rd chapter, from the first to the sixth verse inclusive. To say the least, it

The BROKEN COIN by EMERSON HOUGH

From the Scenario by GRACE CUNARD

COPYRIGHT 1915, BY WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

Novelized From the Motion Picture Drama of the Same Name. Produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.

"The treasure of the king, buried so long, mademoiselle—yes! But one treasure which also now I have found! Love, mademoiselle—that is what I have found, the greatest treasure of them all It was buried in my heart, I know not how long. I never knew it. Its secret was hidden. It is but now that I myself have found it. Ah, had I the key to that as well, I should be the happiest man in all the world."

She still gazed out across white-tipped, rippling waves. Her face softened, but what he saw now on her cheek was a tear, stealing down below her lashes! Grieved, he himself could not speak. At last she turned to him.

"I am so sorry!" said she.

"For what, mademoiselle? You know I love you, that I never will love again. Is not that the truth itself? Can you doubt it? Doubt me, fail to believe my every word and I will go. You shall not see me again."

It was like him thus boldly to challenge fate. But she only shook her head.

"I cannot," said she. "I wish I could."

"But you cannot?"

He had her hands in his now. And now she turned her face toward him.

"You shall never deny the truth, my dear," said he. "All my life I shall challenge you to deny me and my love. When you can, when I have been unfaithful to you, life ends for me But between now and then, long years of happiness lie—long years of love—long, happy, useful years"

"Happy? Useful? Yes, for you, perhaps, but how for me? You cannot come to my country. How can I stay here? What place is there for me?"

He took her face now between his hands and looked her fair in the eyes—eyes now filled with tears.

"But," said she, "was it fair—was it fair to make me love you—when I could have no hope—to make me love you—and then to send me away?"

"Send you away! That should never be. If need be, I also would go."

"And leave your duty—your place here? Then I should not love you."

"Then you do!"

In spite of the tears in her face, Kitty Gray suddenly smiled with a miraculous sweetness. "I am American," said she. "We have a fable of one George Washington. I am like him—I cannot tell a lie!"

All her answer now was inarticulate. He caught her in his arms and for the moment neither of them cared what the past had been, what the future might be.

"Fate has spoken!" said she. "If only it were right that we might be together—I should spend my life in trying to make you happy, too, Sir Frederick. But you cannot go with me—that would be wrong, and how can I remain here? You forget I am an American. I am an alien here, and I am not of your—"

He laid a hand upon her lips, frowning. "You shall not say that word," said he. "You shall not mention rank or class—never in all your life to me What we have won, we have won together. What we enjoy, we shall enjoy together. What of honor or rank or reward there is for me that shall be for you as well I will listen to nothing—I will not tolerate the thought of your leaving me now—I say, we but begin everything."

"Now, come," said he at length, firmly. "If life ended for us both now, it would not have been lived in vain. Fear not as to the future. Let it rest. Come with me"

She hesitated for yet an instant, holding back from what she feared.

"Why, in the last turn of events,"

"The Other Half of the Coin," Exclaimed Kitty.

said she, "you yourself might be."

"I might be what, my dear?"

"You might be king!"

"No," said he. "In the country where we will live love alone will be the king."

CHAPTER LXXV.

The Last Siege.

"Excellency," interrupted the prime minister, at length approaching the deck where Frederick still sat with the young American—"Excellency, I intrude, but perhaps—"

"What is it?" demanded the nobleman calmly. "Are they calling us from our own port?"

"Precisely that, excellency. We have a wireless call. We were summoned out, and now are summoned back again. They demand that we shall come quickly."

"What is wrong?" demanded Count Frederick, springing to his feet.

"Everything, excellency! Word has come that Grahoffen is marching against us once more—even now our city may be besieged"

For a moment Count Frederick stood silent. "I see," said he. "That faithless tyrant Cortislaw has forgot his treaty and is going to war against us when he thinks us unprepared His traitor and spy, Sachio, has kept him well advised—I warrant that. How are they coming this time?"

"In part by land, but also in a strong fleet by sea."

"So they are attacking on what they think the weaker side of our works. Is there no such thing as faith among kings—is there nowhere honesty in all the world—is there no man of faithfulness and power any more?"

"Sire," said the prime minister, uncovering and bowing to him, "there is one such in our own country."

"Michael, our king—that man?"

"No, sire, not Michael, our king. It is none other than yourself I mean. In you only can our kingdom have any hope—that is plainer now than it has ever been in all our history. Times must change or we are undone. We must dethrone our king at last. Take the place, I beseech you, excellency, which belongs to you, the place which you only can hold, for, believe me, it is only in you that Gretzhoffen may have any hope.

"I trust that you will remember that it was myself that first made this plain to your excellency," he added, thoughtfully.

"Time for all that later," said Count Frederick hastily. "First we must get back to port and pull together such forces as we can."

"Excellency, I, myself, attempted something of that before we left," said the prime minister. "I attempted to carry out such orders as I fancied you would have given had you been there. Some of the regiments, no doubt, have assembled. The guns may be ready on our sea-front now."

"Very well. Full speed ahead then. We may not be in time."

They were but barely in time. Before the Adelina docked in Gretzhoffen port there might have been seen in the bay the smoke of the advancing fleet—the Grahoffen expeditionary force already was crowding in for the landing. At the same time, upon the opposite side of the city, the army of Grahoffen, in full force, was advancing over the route which heretofore had carried the assault. Already this column, composed of cavalry, infantry and the full artillery of Grahoffen, had passed the neutral strip, and was entering the suburbs below the castle walls of the Gretzhoffen citadel.

They came exultantly, confident of their victory, and swept on as though eager to begin the sacking of the city. And the sacking of Gretzhoffen surely had begun but for the arrival of one man.

The prime minister was right. The confidence of the people of Gretzhoffen, as much of it as was left for any one man, now rested solely in the

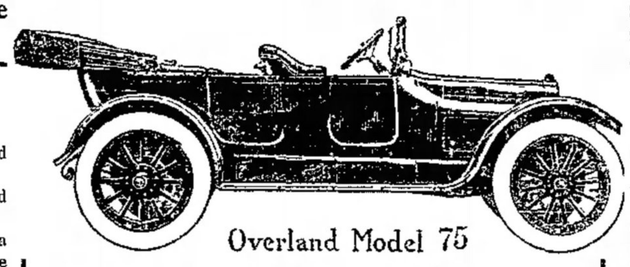
PRIZES Worth $1800

to be Awarded Saturday, January 8, 1916

This car has been selected for its power, comfort and elegance and for the simplicity of is mechanism. It is one of the best cars made itn the United States today.

CAPITAL PRIZE 1916 OVERLAND CAR



Overland Model 75

Purchased from S. S. Jones

The Overland has power and never failing ability; big enough to give plenty of room, and so handy it can readily turned in a narrow street. An ideal car for a woman.

General Information

The contest officialily opens Tuesday, Nov. 23rd, and closes Saturday, January 8 at 9 o'clock.

The contest is open to every man and woman (married or single, old or young) in western Pennsylvania.

This is not a beauty or "popular girl" contest, but a strictly competitive plan where effort and perseverance will count.

The Grand Capital prize—Overland Touring Car—will be awarded the candidate who secures the largest number of votes in the entire contest, regardless of where he or she resides.

Those who desire to compete for one of the prizes should not wait for some one else to nominate them, but send in their own names as contestants.

The winners of the prizes will be awarded by their accredited votes. Votes are secured by securing prepaid subscriptions to the Daily Independent.

Votes will be allowed on subscriptions anywhere in the wide world. Candidates are not confined to their own town or own locality to secure subscriptions.

Subscription books will be sent free to all candidates and upon their friend's request. It costs absolutely nothing to try for a prize.

How to Enter Contest

The contest is open to every wide-awake, energetic man, woman or child who is a resident of western Pennsylvania. The only requirement is that the candidate be in good standing.

All that is necessary to enter the contest and compete for the prizes is to clip the nomination coupon appearing in this page, fill in the name and address and send it or bring it to the Independent office. Immediately upon receipt of nomination coupon, the name will be entered as a candidate and 10,000 votes credited to your account. Receipt books and other working material will be sent to you.

A candidate does not necessarily have to be a subscriber to the Independent in order to compete.

4 months—$1 00	1,500 votes
6 months—$1 50	2,500 votes
1 year—$3 00	7,500 votes
2 years—$6.00	20.000 votes
3 years—$9 00	40,000 votes

$400 Cash Prizes

Every candidate who remains active until the close of the contest and fails to win a prize, will receive a cash salary equal to ten per cent of the amount collected on subscriptions. These cash salaries are estimated at a total of $400.00.

Rules Govering Contest

Anyone is eligible to compete by following the rules below.

Each candidate must be nominated on a blank printed in the Independent which counts for 10,000 votes.

But one nomination blank will be counted for each candidate.

Contestants are not restricted as to the territory in which they may work and secure votes.

No candidate can transfer votes after turning them in to the Contest Manager and receiving credit for them.

The Contest Manager shall decide all questions and his decisions shall remain final. All votes, remittances and subscriptions must be turned into the Contest Manager at the Independent office or they will not be counted.

Subscriptions will not be received from any person for more than five years in advance.

No telephone subscriptions or promises will be considered.

No contestant can win more than one prize.

In case of a tie between any two of the contestants, the value of the prize they are tied for and the next one below will be divided between them.

No one connected in any way with the Independent is eligible to enter the contest. The Contest Manager of the Independent reserves the right to add to these rulings.

Golden Opportunity

This is a golden opportunity for energetic, ambitious men, women and young folks. Especial care will be taken that nothing undignified enters into the friendly rivalry in this $1,800 Marathon.

Opportunity knocks but once at every door. She is now loudly clamoring for admission at the portals of the ambitious of Monessen and surrounding territory; who should not let a sense of false pride or dignity deter them from aspiring for these wonderful prizes. Do not hesitate or be bashful. This is the age of progressiveness. Act at once and enroll. Call on or write to the Contest Manager who will cheerfully answer all questions. Address all communications relative to the contest to Contest Manager, Daily Independent, Monessen, Pa.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove it

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief promptly by Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, unsuspected tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, thus inducing them to perform their duties in ridding the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which does more calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of purgative, stirring cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without any of the pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered this formula after examining scores of patients among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Olympic Theatre

The wonderful seven reel Red Seal Selig production tomorrow at the Olympic, "The Rosary."

The hours I spend with thee, dear heart, Are as a string of pearls to me I count them over everyone apart. My Rosary, My Rosary. I tell each bead unto the end, And there a cross is hung. It is the dearest wish of my heart, Brian, the mother tells her only son when Father Ryan tells her that her boy wishes to study for the church, wishes to go God's road. Then tears spring into her eyes. It is the dearest moment, the dearest wish of her heart. It is the dearest wish to every true mother of our land, the dearest moment when her son or daughter takes the straight road. We must see this wonderful picture. Tomorrow at Olympic. 1t

Remarkable Statement of a Woman Who Was Nothing But Skin and Bones

Laugh and grow fat is a homely saying, but Mrs. Elizabeth L. Morris of Hammond, La., tells of a more reliable method. She says:—

"I cannot say enough in praise of Vinol, for it saved my life. I was weak, nervous, run-down, could not sleep, was unfit for work and was nothing but skin and bones. Three doctors had all failed to help me. One day I saw Vinol advertised, took courage ond bought a bottle, and it soon made me feel better. I continued its use and such a change! I have regained my strength, flesh and health, am perfectly well, and the doctor was surprised to see such a change in me in such a short time."—Elizabeth Morris, Hammond, La.

The reason Vinol proved such a wonderful strength creator in Mrs. Morris' case was because of the extractives of fresh cod livers, without oil, combined in a pure native tonic wine, which makes Vinol a most wonderful tonic.—Hirsch Drug Co., Monessen, Pa.

is a childish piece of theology. Allow me to produce some Old Testament history, some very interesting facts showing how God dealt with a nation when it combined its strength with His and also when it depended upon himself. The Hebrews were not prepared for war, defensive or aggression, when Moses delivered them from Egyptian bondage. Some of them wanted to fight the Egyptians, but Moses assured them that if they would put their trust in God, they would be delivered, so they were.

This same nation a few centuries later had grown to be wealthy in this world's goods and wise in their own conceit. It came to pass under Solomon that they began to trust in their own wisdom and strength. Solomon increased his standing army and multiplied unto the nation chariots and horses of war, all of which was as futile as a dream when the life of a nation was at stake. The Apostle Paul said these things were written for our admonition. I am opposed to Mr. Wilson's plan of preparedness for several reasons. It is in direct opposition to the principles of Christianity. It has been tried by many nations of the past in bettering mankind, but has even failed to keep them on the map. It is being tried today by the best prepared nations on earth and the same result is well nigh demonstrated before our eyes.

Rome was once the mistress of the world, guarded by her Cisceros and Caesars with their armed bands and navies. Where is that once mighty empire today? Her history only serves to stain the sands of time with the blood of the sons and daughters of men, and to prove again that "Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people." I am opposed to the plan of preparedness which will shortly go before Congress because the money required could be more wisely spent. We have any number of hyphenated Americans in this country who are becoming more and more every day a menace to our commerce and industries. Mr. Wilson refused to sign the immigration bill and this class of foreigners are still flocking to our shores and scattering themselves throughout the country without the slightest idea of learning our language, conforming to our customs or becming American citizens. Something must be done with these people and it must be done today, lest tomorrow when the war is over and a new map of the world is formed, the geographer will not know whether to put us on the map as America, Germany, Greece or Italy. It would be money better spent in educating, Americanizing and Christianizing these foreigners. We are in sore need of preparedness, but the program needs to be of a social, moral and spiritual nature. Shakespeare says "Love is blind," and at this particular time, Mr. Wilson may be innocent in doing so, but if he succeeds in carrying out his plan, he will betray the happiness and tranquility of the American people into the hands of a few mammon worshippers among us who are possessed with the spirit of avarice and greed.

If our Christianity cannot save us, we are a lost people. It certainly cannot save us if we are now practicing it. We need to turn to God as a nation and He consumeth with a feverish desire to do His works of righteousness. God has never before in His providence afforded any nation such a golden opportunity to carry Christianity to the regions of earth, its leritimate ends. Never before were the stronger nations ready to receive a program of peace as now. Should we pass the opportunity up we will not deserve a record in history or a lot on earth that would be creditable to any people.

We give thee thanks, O Lord.
Not for armed legions marching in their might;
Not for the glory of the well-earned fight,
Where brave men slay their brothers, also brave;
But for the millions of thy sons who work,
And do thy task with joy and never shirk,
And deem the idle man a burdened slave.
For these, O Lord, our thanks.

We give thee thanks, O Lord.
Not for the palaces that wealth has grown,
Where ease is worshipped, beauty dimly known,
And the pleasure leads her dance the flowery way;
But for the quiet homes where love is queen,
And life is more than baubles touched and seen,
And old folks bless us and dear children play.
For these, O Lord, our thanks.

Star Theatre Today

"The Wonderful Adventure" by Captain Wilbur Lawton, the most recent William Fox release starring William Farnum, known to fame as the $100,000 dramatic artist, is a story of unusual power and deep human interest. As penned by Captain Lawton, "The Wonderful Adventure" provides a magnificient photodrama, for the great genius of Mr. Farnum, for whom, in fact, the work was especially written and devised.

There is one scene in which Farnum the star, is supposed to be dead on his bed. It was necessary for him to lie perfectly still in a cramped position for five steady minutes. Such perfect control has he of all his muscles that as he lay there in the bed of little hall bedroom in which he is supposed to have died, that there was not so much as the flicker of an eyelid. Not even the twitching of a muscle of the neck or throat, or in fact any part of the body.

It was conceded by the general public when they first witnessed this remarkable picture, that Mr. Farnum never appeared to such extreme advantage.

This picture will be seen at the Star theatre tonight. 1t
